

ABIGAIL BURT'S PRESENTATION THAT IS POSTED ON YOUTUBE:

<https://youtu.be/g9dBVeASv1s>

We want to thank Abigail for her outstanding presentation about CREATING A WILDLIFE GARDEN on March 28. I am sure that everyone enjoyed it as much as I did. I know that participants picked up a lot of ideas that they will be able to use in their own gardens this summer. We have already received very positive feedback from several participants concerning Abby's presentation.

In response to one of the questions raised at the end of the presentation, Kari Hodge sent this message: "Thought I should mention to you that I once heard Ed Lawrence say that you should not use cayenne to deter rodents. He once saw a squirrel appearing to scratch its eyes out after coming in contact with cayenne someone had put out to discourage rodents in the garden." Sounds like good advice.

We thank Peter Marshall from the Parkside Centre for once again facilitating the presentation for us, and my wife Linda for doing such an excellent job of hosting. Thanks also to Peter for providing a copy of the presentation so that I could upload it to YOUTUBE for sharing with you.

I have just forwarded a copy to EASTLINK and look forward to seeing it broadcast on their Community TV channel later this spring.

You should also see a link to the presentation in our Society's Facebook group <https://www.facebook.com/groups/sudburyhorticulturalociety> - and on our website - <https://sudburyhorticulturalsociety.ca> .

Please feel free to share the link with your fellow gardening friends who may have missed the presentation on Sunday.
